Acknowledgements

ACADEMIC WRITING may well be a solitary activity for the most part, though it is necessarily the product of a professional and a social existence as well. Many individuals, from all walks of life, have encouraged me in the writing of this, the seventeenth book which I have completed as author, editor or co-editor, and this small notice is a meagre acknowledgement of the support I have received during the research and writing of That Devil's Trick.

I must express my gratitude, first and foremost, to Gillian Wheeler for her unswerving support during difficult times. Writers tend also to thank their publishers as something of an afterthought in the last paragraph. I won't do that, for my gratitude to Matthew Frost, my true friend as well as my publisher, deserves its rightful place in this first paragraph. In something of a similar vein I would like to thank Meredith Carroll and Kim Walker, also of Manchester University Press, for their tolerance and consideration.

Many other friends and colleagues have likewise afforded, at various times and during often ridiculously late hours, the luxuries of sage advice, constructive criticism, credible whisky, strong coffee and, on more than one occasion, brotherly love, relief and truth. I must express my gratitude to the following friends, therefore, some of whom may well feel surprised to see their names in print in this work: Carol Burns and Brian Killey, Jnr; Nick Freeman (University of Loughborough); Ruth Heholt (University College Falmouth); Nigel Kingcome (University College Falmouth); Jarlath Killeen (Trinity College, Dublin); Sorcha Ní Fhlainn (Manchester Metropolitan University); Ben Fisher (University of Mississippi); Andrew

Smith (University of Sheffield); Sir Christopher Frayling (Churchill College, Cambridge); Catherine Wynne (University of Hull); Paul Murray; David Punter (University of Bristol); Catherine Spooner (University of Lancaster); Ellen McWilliams (University of Exeter); Colin Edwards (Bath Spa University); Vic Sage (UEA, Norwich); John Strachan (Bath Spa University); Sam George (University of Hertfordshire); Tracy Brain (Bath Spa University); Roy Foster (University of Oxford); Steve May (Bath Spa University); Gavin Cologne-Brookes (Bath Spa University); Jerrold Hogle (University of Arizona); Alison Younger (University of Sunderland); Colin Younger (University of Sunderland); Jillian Wingfield (University of Hertfordshire); Mark de Fleury (Bath Spa University); Catherine Robinson (Bath Spa University); Anne Lambton (University of Sunderland); Marie Mulvey-Roberts (University of the West of England); John Newsinger (Bath Spa University); Lana Hula (Bath Spa University); Tom Read (Bath Spa University); Emmalynne McEvoy; Sonja Zimmermann; Roger Sales (UEA, Norwich); Clare Fleck (Knebworth House); and, from Trowbridge, Don Farmer; John Cadby; Brian Weston; Ray Honey; Stephen Nuttall; Mark Manning; David Hipperson; and the late Bill Beaven.

Finally, I'd like to express the deep love and gratitude I feel to my uncle, Tom Hughes, and to all of my cousins. I finally have my family back again.

William Hughes

Trowbridge, Wiltshire, 14 February 2014