List of figures

1.1 Francisco Goya, ‘The sleep of reason produces monsters’, from Los Caprichos, © Manchester City Galleries

1.2 Francisco Goya, ‘There is plenty to suck’, from Los Caprichos, © Manchester City Galleries

4.1 Bram Stoker’s notes for Dracula, p. 3 (Rosenbach Museum, Philadelphia)

4.2 Bram Stoker’s notes for Dracula, p. 4 (Rosenbach Museum, Philadelphia)

4.4 David Reed, notebooks for ‘Painting/Vampire Study Center’, 10 Sept–17 Oct 1999 (Goldie Paley Gallery, Moore College of Art and Design)

4.5 Dracula is detected because he casts no reflection. Dracula, dir. Tod Browning (Universal Pictures, 1931)

4.6 David Reed, ‘350 Vampire Painting for Graz’, oil and alkyd on linen. 54 × 118 inches. ‘New Paintings for the Mirror Room and Archive in the Studio off the Courtyard’ (1996). Photography, Johann Koinegg
List of figures

6.1 The shadow of the vampire – Nosferatu, dir. F. W. Murnau (Germany, 1922). Nosferatu, British Film Institute DVD, BFI Video Publishing (1997) (Region 2) 97

6.2 The looming female vampire in Vampyr (Carl Dreyer, France/Germany, 1932). Vampyr, The Masters of Cinema Series, Eureka Entertainment 2008 (Region 2) 105

6.3 Death of the vampire in Nosferatu (F. W. Murnau, Germany, 1922). Nosferatu, British Film Institute DVD, BFI Video Publishing (1997) (Region 2) 108

9.1 Pam and Eric wearing Goth style at Fangtasia: True Blood 1.4, ‘Escape From Dragon House’. © 2011 Home Box Office, Inc. All rights reserved. HBO® and all related programs are the property of Home Box Office, Inc. 154

12.1 Promotional image of Sookie Stackhouse (Anna Paquin). © 2011 Home Box Office, Inc. All rights reserved. HBO® and all related programs are the property of Home Box Office, Inc. 193

12.4 Promotional image of Reverend Steve Newlin (Michael McMillian). © 2011 Home Box Office, Inc. All rights reserved. HBO® and all related programs are the property of Home Box Office, Inc. 198

12.5 Still of a roadside sign from the True Blood title sequence. True Blood: The Complete First Season. © 2009 Home Box Office. DVD: HBO Entertainment 204

14.2 Eli and Oskar touch through the interface in Let the Right One In (2007), dir. Tomas Alfredson (Sandrew Metronome, 2008) 236