The research for this book was initially funded by the Carnegie Trust for the Universities of Scotland (2006), through a small grant to Louise Jackson for research on Manchester as a case study. This was followed by an award from the ESRC (RES-000-22-2644 'Policing Post-War Youth: a Comparative Study of England and Scotland c.1945–1971'), which enabled Angela Bartie to join the project as a research assistant (2008–9) to undertake archival work on Scottish materials. The writing up of this book has been supported by the School of History, Classics and Archaeology at the University of Edinburgh, through the award of two semesters of research leave to Louise Jackson. Angela Bartie co-authored Chapters 4 and 6, which also draw on her own research on Glasgow gangs and the Easterhouse project; materials she collected are used elsewhere in the book. Every effort has been made to trace the copyright owners of Figures 3.1 and 3.2; anyone claiming copyright should contact the authors.
