Acknowledgements

The editors would like to thank the Centre for European and International Studies Research at the University of Portsmouth for supporting an international conference, which was held at the university in September 2010, to mark the fiftieth anniversary of political independence in Francophone sub-Saharan Africa. This volume emerged in large part from that conference. They would also like to thank Clive Chafer and Manus McGrogan for translating the chapters by Mesli and Joly, respectively, into English. In addition, Tony Chafer would like to thank Martin Evans and Natalya Vince for their support, collaboration and encouragement. He also wishes to thank students on the undergraduate programmes and the MA Francophone Africa at the University of Portsmouth for their ideas and contributions to debate on Francophone Africa, which are constantly stimulating. Alexander Keese wishes to thank the European Commission which generously supports his work under Framework Programme 7 (ERC Starting Grant n° 240898).