ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Editing the three travel and conquest plays of this volume has been quite a journey in itself, stretching over a period of several years and involving colleagues and friends from near and far. The project was first planned as a collaboration with Charles Whitworth, my then habilitation supervisor and head of the IRCL (Institut de Recherches sur la Renaissance, l'Âge Classique et les Lumières) at the University of Montpellier 3. Although the project was much delayed due to changing professional and personal circumstances for both of us – not least of which the loss of two dear fathers – I am most grateful to Charles for having given me the start and introduced me to series editor Susan Brock and commissioning editor Matthew Frost.

The greatest debt I have incurred along the way is definitely to Susan, without whose unfailing support and professionalism this book could simply not have seen the light. Her gentle encouragements over several years and her countless helpful suggestions deserve not just gratitude but deep respect.

I wish to extend my thanks to both my former and current research centres, IRCL and LARCA (Laboratoire de Recherches sur les Cultures Anglophones, University of Paris Diderot – Paris 7), which generously funded several of my research trips. As with all my research projects, this one also owes much to the valuable resources and friendly library staff of the Shakespeare Institute of the University of Birmingham at Stratford-upon-Avon, to whom many thanks. I am also grateful to the Bodleian, British and Huntington libraries for the permissions to reproduce the title-pages of the first quarto editions of the three plays brought together in this volume.

Interactions with and suggestions from many colleagues and friends have been very helpful at various points. It would be impossible to list them all, but special thanks are due to Gerd Bayer, Dan Carey, Leo Caruthers, Line Cottagnies, Nandini Das, Mat Dimmock, Jane Grogan, Christophe Hausermann, Claire Jowitt, Florian Kläger, Frank Lestringant, Jean-Marie Maguin, David McInnis, Gordon McMullan. It goes without saying that any shortcomings and remaining mistakes in this edition are entirely my own.

As this journey now reaches its destination, the final acknowledgements are for my lovely sisters, Niloufar and Farinaz, cheerful and ever supportive companions on the continuing journey of life.

LADAN NIAYESH

Ladan Niayesh - 9781526107930

Downloaded from manchesterhive.com at 04/26/2023 02:47:11PM via free access