Acknowledgements

WE WOULD LIKE TO thank, first and foremost, the authors of the collection for their commitment, patience and generosity. Our editors at Manchester University Press, Matthew Frost and Kim Walker, played vital roles in helping us shape and form the collection, as did our anonymous readers. We are truly grateful to all of them.

Formal Matters developed out of a conference and exhibition held at Columbia University in April 2008, in which several of our contributors were participants. This event could not have taken place without the initiative of the Rare Book and Manuscript Library of Columbia University, especially Michael Ryan and Jenny Lee, who invited and hosted the graduate-student-organized event. Joy Hayton and Maia Bernstein of Columbia's Department of English and Comparative Literature were also instrumental in putting the conference together, and we thank them for their help and inventiveness. The conference and exhibition were sponsored by Columbia's Department of English and Comparative Literature, the Rare Book and Manuscript Library, the Graduate Student Advisory Council, and the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences of Columbia University: we are glad to acknowledge their moral and financial support. We would also like to thank Gerald Cloud, Musa Gurnis, Adam Hooks, David Kastan, Molly Murray, Mark Phillipson, Ben Robinson, Alan Stewart and Adam Zucker for their help in organizing this event. Finally, we are grateful to Alan Farmer, Hannibal Hamlin, Zachary Lesser, and Peter Stallybrass, participants who were unable to contribute to this volume, but whose papers and thoughts helped to shape the collection nonetheless.

For their invaluable comments and suggestions on the collection as a whole and versions (some long discarded) of the introduction, at various stages throughout the process, we would like to thank Andrea Walkden, Marie Rutkoski, Gavin Hollis, Lianne Habinek, Ivan Lupić, Jim Shapiro, Gordon McMullan, Jean Howard, and Heidi Brayman Hackel. András Kiséry would like to acknowledge the support provided by the Division of Humanities and Social Sciences of City College for indexing the volume. Allison Deutermann thanks Baruch College and her English Department colleagues for their help throughout the process.