ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In compiling this collection of papal Lives I have been given most generous and valuable help. Professor Dr Horst Fuhrmann (Munich) has most kindly permitted me to see the Latin text of his forthcoming edition of Paul of Bernried's Vita Gregorii VII papae. My grateful thanks are also due to the Reverend Dr H. E. J. Cowdrey (whose massive work on Pope Gregory VII places all students of the papal reform in his debt) and to Professor Dr Rudolf Schieffer, President of the Monumenta Germaniae Historica, for their advice and help. Dr Detlev Jasper of the Monumenta Germaniae Historica was, as always, the most patient, generous and learned of correspondents. The staff of the Library of Trinity College, Dublin, especially my friends Ms Anne Walsh and Ms Mary Higgins, have been unfailingly helpful at a time of chaotic change in that famous library. Many friends have sent me important material from other libraries: my nephew Daniel Becker (Berlin), Dr Niall O Ciosáin (Galway), Dr Mark Humphries (Maynooth), Thomas McCarthy (Oxford), Jochen Schenk (Tübingen and Cambridge) and Douglas Carver (Washington). I am indebted also to Ms. Nuala Collins (Department of Medieval History, Trinity College) and to my research students Patrick Healy, Conor Kostick, Margaret Norton, Jeremy Quartermain and Maia Sheridan for their help and encouragement. Spouses are always thanked in prefaces but no spouse ever deserved the acknowledgement of her good advice and patient help more than Dr Helga Robinson-Hammerstein.
