

*In loving memory of Edward Connolly (22 July 1933–7 December 2012), who once asked me why I had read so many books during my research.
This is the answer.*

