Preface

This book would not have come into being were it not for the kindness of the series editors, Darrow Schecter and David Berry. I owe them my thanks for providing the opportunity to write it. The impetus to begin writing would also not have come about save for a period as a Research Fellow at Sussex Law School, and I would like to thank Alex Conte, Elizabeth Craig, and Stephanie Berry for making that possible.

Eric Heinze, Conall Mallory, Adam Ramshaw, Richard Mullender, and Eleni Frantziou all read parts of this book during its formation, and provided invaluable help in doing so. William Ralston, Birju Kotecha, Siobhan McConnell, Jaqueline Smart, James Gray, Helen Rutherford, and other colleagues at Northumbria Law School were perhaps of more hindrance than help in providing relentless friendly distraction, but the process of writing the book would not have been the same without them.

Any idiosyncrasy and eccentricity in the book's contents are attributable to me alone – as are any errors.
