

Contents

	List of figures	page viii
	Notes on contributors	ix
	Acknowledgements	xii
1	The Red Cross Movement: Continuities, changes and challenges Neville Wylie, Melanie Oppenheimer and James Crossland	1
2	Certainty, compassion and the ingrained arrogance of humanitarians Davide Rodogno	27
	Part I: The Movement's foundational 'myths'	45
3	The Americans lead the way? The United States Sanitary Commission and the development of the Red Cross Movement, 1861–71 James Crossland	47
4	Intertwined stories of war humanitarianism: The British Order of St John of Jerusalem and the Red Cross in the Spanish civil wars of the 1870s Jon Arrizabalaga, Guillermo Sánchez-Martínez and J. Carlos García-Reyes	63
5	The early history of the Red Cross Society of China and its relation to the Red Cross Movement Caroline Reeves	81
6	Failure to launch: The American Red Cross in an era of contested neutrality, 1914–17 Branden Little	97

Part II: Turning points	113
7 Challenging the colonial and the international: The American Red Cross in the last war of Cuban independence (1895–8) Francisco Javier Martínez	115
8 Realignment in the aftermath of war: The League of Red Cross Societies, the Australian Red Cross and its Junior Red Cross in the 1920s Melanie Oppenheimer	130
9 The ‘British Red Cross still exists’, 1947–74: Finding a role after the Second World War Rosemary Cresswell	148
10 Feed the hungry – no matter what? The Norwegian Red Cross and Biafra, 1967–70 Eldrid Mageli	164
Part III: The Red Cross’s modus operandi	179
11 ‘A cog in the great wheel of mercy’: The New Zealand Red Cross and the International Red Cross Movement Margaret Tennant	181
12 Coming of age in the crucible of war: The First World War and the expansion of the Canadian Red Cross Society’s humanitarian vision Sarah Glassford	199
13 The 1938 International Committee of the Red Cross Conference: Humanitarian diplomacy and the cultures of appeasement in Britain Rebecca Gill	213
14 ‘£50,000 is too small a fine to pay’: The British Red Cross and the Spanish refugees of 1939 Kerrie Holloway	230
15 The British Red Cross Society and the ‘parcels crisis’ of 1940–1 Neville Wylie	245
16 The Red Cross in wartime Macau and its global connections Helena F. S. Lopes	264

17	A humanitarian and national obligation: A comparison between the Dutch Red Cross, 1940–5, and the Dutch Indies Red Cross, 1942–50	282
	Leo van Bergen
	Index	296