Notes on contributors

CELESTINO DELEYTO is Professor of Film and English Literature at the University of Zaragoza, Spain. He is the author of The Secret Life of Romantic Comedy (MUP, 2009) and co-author, with María del Mar Azcona, of Alejandro González Iñárritu (University of Illinois Press, 2010). At the moment he heads a research project on transnational cinema and the representation of borders in contemporary film.

MARIA M. DELGADO is Professor of Theatre and Screen Arts at Queen Mary, University of London. She has published widely in the areas of twentieth-century Spanish theatre and film, with a particular interest in the work of performers and directors and the intersections between stage and screen cultures. Her books include Federico García Lorca (Routledge, 2008) and 'Other' Spanish Theatres (MUP, 2003), as well as seven co-edited volumes. She has been a programme advisor to the BFI London Film Festival since 1997 and contributes regularly to Sight & Sound and BBC Radio's The Strand, Night Waves and Saturday Review.

MARÍA DONAPETRY is Lecturer in Spanish at Balliol College, Oxford, where she teaches modern literature, film and women's studies. She has published widely on European and Hispanic film and is the author of titles including La otra mirada (University Press of the South, 1998), Toda ojos (KRK, 2001) and Imaginación: la feminización de la nación en el cine español y latinoamericano (Fundamentos, 2006). She is a founder member of the programme of Women's Studies at the University of Oviedo, where she is a regular collaborator in projects and teaching.

MARVIN D'LUGO is Professor of Spanish and Comparative Literature at Clark University, Worcester, MA, where he teaches courses on Spanish and Latin American cinema. He is author of The Films of Carlos Saura: The Practice of Seeing (Princeton University Press, 1991), Guide to the Cinema of Spain (Greenwood Press, 1997) and Pedro Almodóvar (University of Illinois Press, 2006). Since 2008 he has served as principal editor of Studies in Hispanic Cinemas.

JO EVANS is Senior Lecturer at University College, London, where she teaches undergraduate and postgraduate courses on Spanish film. She is the author of a book on the Francoist poet, Ángela Figuera Aymerich, and of Julio Medem (Grant & Cutler, 2007). Her research interests include psychoanalytic and feminist film theory, and her articles on Spanish film and narrative have appeared in Screen, New Cinemas, Studies in Hispanic Cinemas, the Hispanic Research Journal and the Bulletin of Hispanic Studies. Forthcoming publications include book chapters on Iciar Bollain, Spanish women filmmakers and the Argentine poet, journalist and playwright, Alfonsina Storni.

ROBIN FIDDIAN is Professor of Hispanic Studies at the University of Oxford and Fellow of Wadham College. He has published widely on Spanish and Spanish American literature and is the author of monographs on Ignacio Aldecoa, Gabriel García Márquez and Fernando del Paso. His work on Spanish cinema includes essays on Almodóvar, Borau and Colomo, amongst others. With Peter William Evans, he co-authored Challenges to Authority: Fiction and Film in Contemporary Spain (Tamesis, 1987). With Ian Michael, he co-edited Sound on Vision: Studies on Spanish Cinema (University of Glasgow, 1999).

SUE HARRIS is Reader in Film Studies at Queen Mary, University of London. She is the author of Bertrand Blier (MUP, 2001), co-author (with Tim Bergfelder and Sarah Street) of Film Architecture and the Transnational Imagination: Set Design in 1930s European Cinema (Amsterdam University Press, 2007), and co-editor of two volumes of essays: France in Focus: Film and National Identity (Berg, 2000), with Elizabeth Ezra, and From Perversion to Purity: The Stardom of Catherine Deneuve (MUP, 2007), with Lisa Downing. She is currently completing An American in Paris for the BFI Film Classics series.

MARÍA JOSÉ MARTÍNEZ JURICO is an artist based in Nottingham. She has a background in fine art, critical theory and counselling and has also worked as a teacher and a translator. As an artist, she has exhibited video-installation and mixed-media works. Her main medium at present is painting.

MARK MILLINGTON is Professor of Latin American Studies at the University of Nottingham. He has published on numerous Latin American novelists and the theory of cross-cultural reading. His last book was Hombres in/visibles: la representación de la masculinidad en la ficción latinoamericana 1920–1980 (Fondo de Cultura Económica de España, 2010). His current research is on intellectual life in early twentieth-century Mexico and in particular the autobiography of José Vasconcelos.

ALBERTO MIRA is Reader in Film Studies at Oxford Brookes University, where he teaches courses on Spanish cinema, and classical Hollywood narration and stars. He co-devised the Film Studies undergraduate program at Brookes in 2004, and also contributes to the postgraduate MA in Popular Cinema. Between 1997 and 1999 he was Queen Sofía Research Fellow at Exeter College, Oxford. He has published extensively on Francoist cinema, gender in Spanish cinema, Iván Zulueta and Pedro Almodóvar for various Spanish, British and US journals. Alberto is the author of De Sodoma a Chueca (Egales, 2004), as well as a monograph on gay and lesbian cinema: Miradas insumisas: gays y lesbianas en el cine (Egales, 2008). Other publications include the Historical Dictionary of Spanish Cinema (Scarecrow, 2010) and critical editions and Spanish translations of plays by Oscar Wilde and Edward Albee.

CHRIS PERRIAM is Professor of Hispanic Studies at the University of Manchester and is lead researcher on the AHRC-funded project 'Queer Cinema from Spain and France'. He is joint author, with Phil Powrie, Bruce Babington and Ann Davies, of Carmen on Film: A Cultural History (Indiana University Press, 2006/07) and joint editor, with Peter William Evans and Isabel Santaolalla, of The Transnational in Iberian and Latin American Cinemas (special issue of the Hispanic Research Journal, 2007), as well as of Theorizing World Cinema, with Lúcia Nagib and Rajinder Dudrah (I.B. Tauris, 2011).

STEPHEN ROBERTS is Associate Professor and Reader in Modern Spanish Literature and Intellectual History at the University of Nottingham. He has published on the work of early twentieth-century Spanish and Spanish American thinkers and poets, including Unamuno, Rodó, Juan Ramón Jiménez, Neruda and Lorca, and on Spanish and US cinema (Juan Antonio Bardem, John Huston, Hollywood biopics). His current research focuses on the phenomenon of exile.

AGUSTÍN SÁNCHEZ VIDAL is Professor of Art History specialising in cinema and media studies at the University of Zaragoza, where he has also taught Spanish literature for more than 20 years. He has held posts as visiting professor in a number of universities including Princeton and the University of Nanterre, France. The author of more than 50 books on art, literature and film studies, he has published monographs on Borau and Carlos Saura, amongst others.

PAUL JULIAN SMITH is Distinguished Professor in the Ph.D. Program in Hispanic and Luso-Brazilian Languages and Literatures at the Graduate Center, City University of New York (CUNY). He was for 20 years Professor of Spanish in the University of Cambridge, UK. He is the author of 15 books, including Desire Unlimited: The Cinema of Pedro Almodóvar (Verso 1994; translated into Chinese and Turkish), Amores Perros: Modern Classic (BFI and University of California Press, 2003; translated into Spanish), Laws of Desire: Questions of Homosexuality in Spanish Writing and Film (Oxford University Press, 1992; also translated into Spanish) and Spanish Screen Fiction: Between Cinema and Television (Liverpool University Press and Chicago University Press, 2009).

ROB STONE is Professor of European Film at the University of Birmingham. He is the author of Spanish Cinema (Longman, 2001), Flamenco in the Works of Federico García Lorca and Carlos Saura (Edwin Mellen, 2004), Julio Medem (MUP, 2007) and Walk, Don't Run: The Cinema of Richard Linklater (Columbia University Press and Wallflower, 2012). He is also co-editor of The Unsilvered Screen: Surrealism on Film (Wallflower, 2006), Screening Songs in Hispanic and Lusophone Cinema (MUP, 2012) and The Companion to Luis Buñuel (Wiley-Blackwell, 2013).

KATHLEEN M. VERNON is Associate Professor of Hispanic Languages and Literature at Stony Brook University, New York State. Her areas of research focus primarily on cinema and popular culture, especially popular song, in Spain and Latin America in the twentieth century. With Barbara Morris, she co-edited Post-Franco, Postmodern: The Films of Pedro Almodóvar (Greenwood, 1995), and she is co-editor of Studies in Hispanic Cinemas.

DUNCAN WHEELER is Lecturer in Spanish at the University of Leeds, where he is also a member of the executive committee of the Centre for World Cinemas. Between 2010 and 2012 he was Leverhulme Research Fellow working on the role of arts and cultural institutions in Spain's transition to democracy, the subject of his second monograph which will be completed in 2013. In addition, he is reviews editor of New Cinemas and subject editor (Spanish literature and culture) of The Literary Encyclopedia (online).

TOM WHITTAKER is Lecturer in Hispanic Film Studies at the University of Liverpool. He is the author of The Films of Elías Querejeta: A Producer of Landscapes (University of Wales Press, 2011). His research has mainly focused on the relationship between film and geography in Spanish cinema, and his publications have appeared in journals such as Jump Cut, the International Journal of Cultural Studies, the Journal of British Cinema and Television and the Bulletin of Hispanic Studies. His current research centres on questions of movement and rhythm in Latin American cinema and soundscapes in Spanish cinema.