Acknowledgements

The ABC stems from years of doing artistic projects, swapping thousands of emails, chatting endless hours, taking far too many flights and staying too long at numerous parties. This reflective account is based on a pretty long, multithreaded and distributed conversation that involved multitudes of other projectarians: friends, comrades, colleagues, partners in crime. I have tried to reference as many people as only possible in the main body of text. However, quite a few of the conversations that impacted on my writing have not had a formal character. And precisely because these labours of love and works of pollination are not authored, they deserve an acknowledgement.

The place of love and honour is reserved to Natalia, Elżbieta and Cyryl Romik; Jan, Jolanta and Agnieszka Szreder; and to Rafał Żwirek. Not only have they collaborated on some of the projects mentioned here, like the summer camps of the Free/Slow University of Warsaw, that were organised in a family cottage, but also because only with their unwavering support was I able to carry on in the long periods of precarity and doubt. I have been able to finish this book only because Natalia turned our home/office into a joyful, caring and supportive environment. I am forever in their debt.

The ABC is a text with some history. Some of the theoretical threads elaborated here originated in the process of writing my PhD thesis at the Loughborough University School of the Arts. They were hammered out in endless, critical discussions with my tutors – Jane Tormey, Mel Jordan and Gillian Whiteley – and sharpened in friendly exchange with my peers – Vlad Morariu, Aria Spinelli, Joe Graham, Michelle Fava, Viviana Checchia and Corina Oprea. I am really grateful to all of them.

I have already devoted an entire entry to the Free/Slow University of Warsaw, but want to yet again emphasise its importance by thanking the entire team of F/SUW for our collective research process, in which this book is embedded: Bogna Świątkowska, Joanna Figiel, Janek Sowa, Michał Kozłowski, Szymon Żydek, Agnieszka Kurant, Krystian Szadkowski, Kasia Chmielewska, Teresa Świąćkowska, Tomasz Żukowski and Ela Petruk. Special mention goes to the Bęc Zmiana Foundation, who published the Polish version of the ABC in 2016, but also to the dozens of people who contributed to the Free/Slow University's projects over the ten years of its existence.

Another collective that influenced my understanding of self-organisation, and educated me on the importance of generosity, is Critical Practice from London. In this thought-sustaining environment I forged lasting friendships that shaped the ideas presented in this book, and it helped me to work out what interdependent curating might mean in practice. I particularly want to thank Marsha Bradfield and Neil Cummings: the value of their friendship is incalculable, but should be accounted for, as they just keep giving. We have spent hundreds of hours walking and talking with other members of the team, to whom I also owe my sincerest thanks: Ben White, Eileen Simpson, Cinzia Cremona, Metod Blejec, Karem Ibrahim, Amy McDonnell, Michaela Ross, Scott Schwager.

The lessons in interdependence would not have been the same without Kathrin Böhm, with whom I established the Centre for Plausible Economies, and colleagues from the Communities Economies Research Network: Katherine Gibson, Cam Jarvis, Binna Choi, Katharine McKinnon, Bianca Elzenbaumer, Kate Rich.

This book is embedded in the artistic activism of the Citizens Forum for Contemporary Art and the independent trade union Worker's Initiative. I owe my gratitude to friends and comrades: Kasia Górna, who masters the hard art of herding cats, Rafał Jakubowicz, Mikołaj Iwański, Karol Sienkiewicz, Tomek Fudala, Monika Weychert, Waldek Tatarczuk, Zuzanna Janin, Mikołaj Ratajczak, Agata Szydłowska, Paweł Nowożycki, Staszek Ruksza, Sarmen Belgarian, Irminda Rusicka and Kacper Lecnim, Gregor Rozanski and Antek Burzyński. Special credits are reserved for Ewa Majewska, with whom I have spent years in – often tumultuous and yet usually productive – exchange.

The ABC is steeped in the most recent wave of post-artistic activism, and thus I wanted to thank my comrades and friends, with whom I organise demonstrations of paintings: Kuba Depczyński, Bogna Stefańska, Sebastian Cichocki, Marianka Dobkowska, Aleksy Wójtowicz, Michał Frydrych, Marta Czyż, Anka Siekiera, Małgorzata Gurowska, Diana Lelonek, Adam Kozicki, Michał Szota, Kolektyw Łaski (Julia Golachowska, Jagoda Kwiatkowska, Anna Shimomura), Olga Dziubak, Arek Pasożyt, Zuzanna Hertzberg, Grzegorz Prujszczczyk, Adelina Cimochoicz, Mateusz Kowalczyk, Weronika Zalewska, Daniel Rycharski, Kasia Kalinowska, Cecylia Malik and many, many others. Special thanks go to Stephen Wright and Teresa Drace Francis for their role as shadow curators and backers, supporting some of our endeavours.

I owe my gratitude to the participants of the post-artistic block at the anti-fascist street party For Your and Our Freedom, organised by the Antifascist Coalition on the 11th of November 2019 in Warsaw. The cut-outs from the images documenting this action are featured on the cover of the ABC. I would like to thank the designers of the flags: Krzysztof Bielecki, Magdalena Frankowska, Małgorzata Gurowska i Anna Siekiera, Jakub Jezierski, Zofia Kofta, Kaja Kusztra, Miłosz Lindner, Krzysztof Pyda, the choreographer Bożna Wydrowska and all the flag bearers who creatively and collectively resist growing fascism.

I would like to thank my colleagues from the Department of Visual Cultures at the Academy of Fine Art in Warsaw, for creating an excellent work environment, open to generating new ideas and shaping old ones. My personal thanks go to Kasia Kasia, Wojciech Włodarczyk, Waldemar Baraniewski, Marika Kuźmich, Paweł Ignaczak, Agnieszka Nalewajka, Agnieszka Jakusz-Gostomska, Piotrek Plucienniczak, Karolina Thel, Luiza Nader, Łukasz Ronduda, Łukasz Izert, Kuba Mazurkiewicz, Kuba Banasiak, Kuba Dąbrowski, Andrzej Leśniak, Ewa Kociszewska.

Most of the best ideas appear somewhere in a fluid in-betweenness of conference breaks, party chats, email swaps, summer camps, walks and talks. They unfold in both long-term exchanges and in transitory moments. Thus, I would ideally like to thank multitudes of people, the discussions with whom shaped my ideas on living and working in (and beyond) the project. It is impossible to name them all, but even a short and inadequate list is better than none: Michał Murawski, Angela Dimitrakaki, Jesús Carrillo, Rena Raedle, Vladan Jeremić, Corina Apostol, W.A.G.E., Maya and Lutka Gordon, Stéphanie Noach, Piotr and Karolina Jakoweńko, Maciek Czeredys, Krzysztof Grzybacz, Małgosia Bocheńska, Christopher Page, Celementine and Florence Keith-Roach, Paweł Wodziński, Bartek Frąckowiak, and Marta Michalak from the Warsaw Biennale, Aneta Szyłak, Marysia Lewandowska, Jonas Staal, iLiana Fokianaki, Georgios Papadopolous, Jenny Marketou, Gregory Sholette, Noah Fischer, Hans Abbing, Stevphen Shukaitis, Marco Baravalle and the entire team of S.a.L.E. Docs, Emanuele Braga and Mao Mollona from the Institute for Radical Imagination, Brian Holmes, Gigi Argyropoulou, Matthias Tarasewicz and Andy Newman, and Sophie-Caroline Wagner from the Journal for Research Cultures, Dmitry Vilensky and David Riff from Chto Delat?, Florian Malzacher, Joanna Warsza, Jesper Alvaer, Isabela Grosseova, Pavel Sterec, Peg Rawes, Simon Sheikh, Andrea Phillips, Suhail Malik, Michaela Crimmin (together with Nelson, Hex and Hector), Tomek Rakowski, Alicja Rogalska, Raluca Voinea, Natalia Sielewicz, Alistair Hudson, John Byrne, Gemma Medina, Alessandra Saviotti, Charles Esche, Nick Aikens, Zdenka Badovinac, Ida Hirszenfelder, Mabel Tapia, Steven ten Thijs, WHW, Onur Yildiz, Sara Buraya, Tomislav Medak, Valeria Graziano, Rosalie Schweiker, Precarious Workers Brigade, Keep it Complex, John Roberts and Karen van den Berg, and the team of FEINART.

Special thanks are owed to the Foundation for Arts Initiatives, who supported my work on the English version of the ABC, and to the amazing team of the FfAI whose emphatic understanding helped me to pull it out: Merve Elveren, Antoine Schweitzer and Vasif Kortun. Last but not least, I wanted to thank Vicky Carr from the TEXTBOOK STUDIO, who designed this book with wit, patience and creative skill, Caroline McPherson who copy-edited it, and the excellent editors of this book, Emma Brennan and Poppy Bowers, whose invaluable comments, insights and suggestions shaped the ABC into its final form.
