List of illustrations

- 1 Mrs Venetia Foster training women excluded from LDV in the Amazon Defence Corps. Courtesy of the Imperial War Museum, Photograph Archive, HU 36270 66
- 2 Membership badges: Women's Home Defence, Women's Home Guard Auxiliary and Women's Voluntary Services. From the private collection of Penny Summerfield 83
- 3 Jeanne Townend's Women's Home Guard Auxiliary unit, Goole, East Yorkshire c.1943. Jeanne is second from the left, back row; her father, the CO, is third from the left in the middle row. Courtesy of Jeanne Townend 89
- 4 '... and 'ere's me Identity Card, Lady' by Sillince, Punch, 23 July 1941. Courtesy of Punch Ltd. 114
- 5 'Why stop at Pikes, Lord Croft?' by Leslie Illingworth, Daily Mail, 6 February 1942. Courtesy of Daily Mail, Solo Syndication 121
- 6 (a) 'Portrait of a Soldier' by E. H. Shepard, Punch, 12 May 1943
(b) 'Standdown' by Leslie Illingworth, Daily Mail, 4 December 1944. Courtesy of Centre for the Study of Cartoons and Caricature, University of Kent, Punch Ltd and Daily Mail, Solo Syndication 122, 123
- 7 'Englysh Pastoral' by Emett, Punch, 18 May 1942. Courtesy of Punch Ltd 124
- 8 'Did I understand you to say you've killed me?' by Giles, in S. E. Thomas, Laughs with the Home Guard (London: Harrap, 1942), p. 47. Courtesy of Express Syndication 127
- 9 'Play the game, Perks. You know that bridge was "totally destroyed" in Sunday's exercise!' by Lee, Evening News, 5 July

List of illustrations

1943. Courtesy of the Centre for the Study of Cartoons and Caricature, University of Kent, and Evening News , Solo Syndication	128
10 ‘Nonsense, Madam! For the purpose of this exercise, I have every right to attack your husband’ by Neb, Daily Mail , 15 October 1942. Courtesy of the Centre for the Study of Cartoons and Caricature, University of Kent, and Daily Mail , Solo Syndication	142
11 ‘Do I shoot and resign – or – resign and shoot?’ by Captain F. C. Saxon, Imperial War Museum, Documents Department, 75/35/1 T, Papers of Captain F. C. Saxon. Courtesy of the Trustees of the Imperial War Museum	145
12 ‘Always some last minute job before these blessed Special Parades’ by Neb, Daily Mail , 13 May 1944. Courtesy of the Centre for the Study of Cartoons and Caricature, University of Kent, and Daily Mail , Solo Syndication	148
13 Still of Miss Grant from Miss Grant Goes to the Door , 1940. Courtesy of the Imperial War Museum, Photograph Archive	156
14 Still of Nora from Went the Day Well? , 1942. Courtesy of Canal+Image UK	159
15 Photograph of the cast of Dad’s Army . Courtesy of the Jeffrey Richards Collection	176
16 Ray Atkins as a 16-year-old recruit. Ray commented, with a laugh: ‘Good job Hitler didn’t see that picture. He’d have packed the war in!’ Courtesy of Ray Atkins	218
17 Home Guard shoulder patch. Courtesy of the King’s Own Royal Regiment Museum, Lancaster	226
18 ‘Sevenoaks Dad’s Army boys create a poser’, Sevenoaks Chronicle , 23 September 1999. Courtesy of Bob Ogley, chronicler, ‘Time Past’, Sevenoaks Chronicle	231
19 Leytonstone Women’s Home Defence. Kathleen Holmes is standing in the second row, fourth from right. Courtesy of Mrs Kathleen Holmes	244
20 Louie White, seated second from the left, with Leeds Home Guard. Courtesy of the Imperial War Museum, Photograph Archive, HU 83511, and Mrs Louie Williams	249