List of contributors

Nicholas Rees is Professor of Politics and Head of the Department of Politics and History, Liverpool Hope University. His teaching and research interests include: EU institutions and policy-making, Ireland and the EU, EU external relations, regional integration, international relations and UN peacekeeping. He is co-author of The Poor Relation: Irish Foreign Policy Towards the Third World (Gill and Macmillan, 1993), United Nations Peacekeeping in the Post-Cold War Era (Frank Cass, 2005), EU Enlargement and Multi-level Governance in Public Policy-making (Ashgate, 2006).

Brid Quinn lectures in Public Administration and Politics in the Department of Politics and Public Administration, University of Limerick. Her research interests include: EU regional policy; governance; renewal of local democracy; partnership; comparative local government and public management reform. She has contributed to a range of books and journals, most recently to the International Journal of Public Sector Management (2008), Tensions between Local Governance and Local Democracy (Reed Elsevier, 2007), EU Enlargement and Multi-level Governance in Public Policy-making (Ashgate, 2006) and the Jahrbuch des Federalismus (2005).

Bernadette Connaughton lectures in Public Administration in the Department of Politics and Public Administration, University of Limerick. Her teaching and research interests include: environmental policy and administration, the impact of EU policy-making on national administrative systems, and political-administrative reform in a comparative perspective. Her publications include journal articles in Public Administration, Regional and Federal Studies, Irish Political Studies and the book Politico-administrative Dilemma: Traditional Problems and New Solutions (NISPAcee, 2006), co-edited with B. Guy Peters and Georg Sootla.