

Contents

Acknowledgements	page vii
Abbreviations	ix
Introduction: the narrative	1
Premise and main argument: elaborating the new notion of violence against women's health	1
Background	2
Violence against women: the knowledge so far	4
The reasons underlying the choice of the right to health and the right to reproductive health	6
Why human rights and why women's rights?	9
Perspective: the Hippocratic medical paradigm	11
Structure of the book	14
1 The anamnesis: 'case history' on violence against women, and against women's rights to health and to reproductive health	22
The anamnesis , a two-dimensional approach	22
The horizontal, 'interpersonal' dimension	24
The vertical, 'state policies' dimension	58
Conclusions: paving the way for the diagnosis	105
2 The diagnosis: a conceptualisation of violence against women's health (VAWH)	134
Unravelling the notion of violence against women's health	134
Consent and autonomy in the concept of VAWH	153
Access to contraception	164
Conclusions	165
3 The treatment: reconceptualising states' obligations in countering VAWH	179
Starting from the beginning: the nature of state obligations	179

Contents

Methodology for treatment: reconceptualising state obligations in countering VAWH	194
Conclusions on state obligations: a mutually reinforcing framework and some open issues	220
Conclusion: the prognosis	235
Prognosis: what we achieved – the dimensions intersect	235
Prognosis: what we did not achieve – international law as a cause of violence?	238
Select bibliography	242
Table of treaties	246
Table of cases	248
Index	254