

Contents

Figures	vii
Contributors	x

Introduction: Just another turn? Practices, doing psychiatry and historiography – Volker Hess and Marianna Scarfone	1
---	---

Part I – Visions and dreams

1 New practices, new institutions: group psychotherapy in Greece and the Open Psychotherapy Centre of Athens, 1960s–1980s – Despo Kritsotaki	31
2 The Gorizia experiment: the genesis of therapeutic practices in Basaglia’s psychiatric community (1962–68) – Marica Setaro	56
3 Social psychiatry in the making: practices at Heidelberg’s Psychiatric University Clinic in the 1960s and 1970s – Gundula Gahlen	84
4 ‘The general atmosphere of this admission unit is reassuring and optimistic’: modernism, architectural research and evolving psychiatric reforms in post-war England – Christina Malathouni	111

Part II – Experimentation

5 Non-hierarchical experimentation: the outpatient treatment of drug-using young people in Finland, 1969–75 – Katariina Parhi	141
---	-----

6	Last resort or early intervention: discourse and practice of psychosurgery in Strasbourg (late 1940s to early 1960s) – Florent Serina	161
7	Treating mutism in Hungarian child psychiatry, 1957–60 – Gábor Csikós	186
Part III – Reflections
8	Changing attitudes: psychoanalytic therapy of psychoses in 1950s clinical psychiatry – Marietta Meier	213
9	In the wake of Goffman? Doing social sciences at the site of psychiatry in Austria – Monika Ankele	234
10	Writing patients: group psychotherapy and reform efforts in 1970s GDR university psychiatry – Henriette Voelker	259
Part IV – Crossing institutional boundaries
11	Neuroleptics outside psychiatry: sedating deviant youth in the 1960s and 1970s in Belgium’s juvenile institutions – Benoît Majerus and David Niget	287
12	Psychiatric practices beyond psychiatry: the sexological administration of transgender life around 1980 – Ketil Slagstad	312
	Index	335